

Year 7 Reading Suggestions Most of the authors listed here have written many other great books as well.	The Hunger Games- Suzanne Collins 	Horrible Histories series 	Funniest Stories - Paul Jennings
Kenzuke's Kingdom - Michael Murpurgo 	Danny Champion of the World - Roald Dahl 	Captain Underpants - Chris Pikey 	Stormbreaker - Anthony Horowitz
Angus Thongs and Perfect Snogging - Louise Reddison 	Girls in Love - Jaqueline Wilson 	Twilight- Stephanie Meyer 	The Hundred-Mile-An-Hour-Dog - Jeremy Strong
A Series of Unfortunate Events - Lemony Snicket 	Noughts and Crosses - Malorie Blackman 	Harry Potter - JK Rowling 	Skulduggery Pleasant- D Landy

Year 7 Reading

An important way to help your child progress, both in English lessons and across all other subjects, is to encourage them to read! We recommend at least 20 minutes quality reading time a day. This could be a novel, a short story, a newspaper article, a film review or a celebrity's autobiography.

The Benefits

Reading can increase your child's range of vocabulary. Seeing good examples of how to write will support your child's understanding of how to use spelling, punctuation, sentences and paragraphs in their own writing. Reading also provides opportunities to practise understanding different types of writing. Overall, it can dramatically help your child to succeed in their learning!

Helpful websites:

For guidance on the reading skills that need to be practised from Year 7 onwards:

<http://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize/ks3/english/reading/>

For personal reviews and an A-Z catalogue of suggestions: <http://www.readingmatters.co.uk/>

To search for book recommendations by age group:

<http://www.lovereadings4kids.co.uk/genre/12/11-plus-readers.html>

For a list of popular children's authors (which directs you to each author's website):

<http://www.ukchildrensbooks.co.uk/>